November 15-16, 2011

San Juan, Puerto Rico

Inter American University of Puerto Rico

School of Law

We are pleased to announce the conference Climate Change in the Caribbean 2011: Puerto Rico and U.S. Virgin Islands to be held on November 15th and 16th, 2011, at the Inter American University of Puerto Rico School of Law in San Juan, Puerto Rico. This important and FREE two-day conference is sponsored by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency, the Puerto Rico Coastal Zone Management Program through the Department of Natural and Environmental Resources, the U.S. Geological Survey, the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, and the U.S.D.A. Forest Service International Institute of Tropical Forestry.

Come learn directly from experts in the field about climate change impacts and projections for the U.S. Caribbean, strategies for reducing greenhouse gas emissions, and steps that can be taken in Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands to increase resilience in the face of a changing climate.

Please visit our website to see the program agenda and to register for the conference.

Due to limited seating capacity of the venue, we are capping registration at 300 people. Interest in the conference is expected to be high, so we urge you to register as early as possible. After submitting your registration form, you will be notified of the status of your registration application.

Information about the Poster Session taking place at the end of the day on November 15 and how to submit proposals for that session will be posted on the conference web site [insert the link] soon.

We hope to see you at this important conference!
